Architectural Description:

Single-story plantation-style house with a hip roof covered in asphalt roll roofing. Single-wall, vertical tongue-and-groove construction with two horizontal girts and outset window frames on a post-and-beam foundation that is screened with horizontal boards. Original windows are 1/1 double hung.

A second house (dated 1936 per Tax Office records) at the rear of the lot was not visible enough from the street to survey.

Integrity:

Although there have been some changes, the house retains sufficient integrity to qualify for the National Register. Integrity of setting is compromised from its historic dense residential character due to large new commercial building on the consolidated adjacent lot. The historic setting is still apparent, due to the presence of other historic residential buildings in the immediate area. Design changes include replacement of some original windows with jalousies, and of lattice foundation screening with boards, and removal of rock wall at front of lot.

Significance:

Criterion "A" – associated with the residential development of the Kalihi Kai neighborhood in the first half of the 20th century and with this road's (formerly North Queen Street) period of transition to a mixed commercial-residential area, when it was extended in the 1930s with extensions connecting to downtown and to Kamehameha Highway. (North Queen Street was renamed Dillingham Boulevard a few years after the extensions.) Criterion "C" – embodies the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, and method of construction, as a good example of a 1940s, single-wall, plantation-style dwelling.
